International Scientific and Practical Conference
« social and economic development of organizations and regions
of belarus:
efficiency and innovation»,

October 31- November 1, 2018
Vitebsk

The purpose of the conference is to discuss actual directions of social and economic development of organizations and regions of Belarus and to develop practical recommendations for ensuring their effective implementation. This conference continues the cycle of scientific and practical conferences held by the Faculty of Economics and business-administration of the VSTU since 2001, where specialists from educational institutions of the Republic of Belarus, representatives of state authorities, local government bodies and organizations are present. Experts in the social and economic development of organizations and regions in Belarus, Russia, Poland, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, Ukraine and other countries will be involved in the conference.

The following issues will be discussed at the conference:

- ◆ Mechanisms for ensuring effective development of organizations and regions, development of interregional and international cooperation;
- ◆ Innovative development of organizations and regions;
- ◆ Actual problems of economy, finance, logistics, production organization, marketing, accounting and statistics;
- ◆ Social aspects of development of organizations and regions.

To participate in the work of the conference, it is necessary to register up to September 10, 2018 on the conference website at <http://conference.vstu.by/> and send the application (according to the sample) and the text of the report printed out in one copy to the Organizing Committee. Based on the results of the conference, a collection of peer-reviewed materials will be published.

The collection of conference materials will be registered in the scientific database RSCI.

Information on the organizational fee will be indicated additionally in the invitation to the conference.
